Profile Info

I define myself as a front-end artist. I spend hours of my day researching and sharpening my knowledge considering that JS is a fast-improving language. Most of my researches is targeted to make life easier for my successors and chiefly end-users. So another example of the inner tension killing me is the word "Best Practice". Those who succeed are those who love their job. I love my job. I have a weighty knowledge and experience of versioning processes, releasing strategies, CSS, and JS best practices.
